MRFF's incoming mail...

JAW-DROPPING BOOK OF HATE MAIL, THREATS, AND CRITICISMS OF MRFF'S EFFORTS

From the seven-time Nobel Peace Prize nominated Military Religious Freedom Foundation's official archives comes this second jaw-dropping collection of hate mail, threats, and criticisms of the MRFF's efforts to ensure that all members of the United States Armed Forces fully receive the Constitutional guarantees of religious freedom to which they and all Americans are entitled by virtue of the Establishment Clause of the First Amendment.

Bonnie Weinstein is the cofounder of the Military Religious Freedom Foundation, an organization dedicated to ensuring that all members of the United States Armed Forces receive the Constitutional guarantee of religious freedom to which they and all Americans are entitled. She lives in New Mexico.

Military-Focused Church/State Separation Group Releases New Hate Mail Collection

About five years ago, Bonnie Weinstein, a co-founder of the Military Religious Freedom Foundation, published a book compiling selections of the hate mail MRFF received for promoting church/state separation in the military. A lot of the letters were directed at her husband, Mikey Weinstein, the public face of the organization.

She said at the time that the letters, mostly from conservative Christians, clearly misunderstood the group's intentions. They acted like MRFF was "attacking their beloved version of fundamentalist Christianity," when the truth was they just didn't want the military being used to advance or promote any one particular belief.

Neutrality, to those haters, was synonymous with hating Christianity.

As I have written before, I am involved with the Military Religious Freedom Foundation and I have been exposed to the hate mails they get from those in the military that believe that their religion should be the official and only religion in the armed forces.

At the MRFF we constantly oppose all the fundies do to violate the fundamental separation of church and state. So we get tons of hate email.

Bonnie Weinstein published this week a 2nd book about this subject; When Christians Break Bad: Letters from the Insane, Inane, and Profane (MRFF Letters). Bonnie is the wife of my friend Mikey Weinstein, the president of the MRFF.
