GOODBYE NAZI "SS" TATTOO!
WALLA WALLA POLICE OFFICER
DECIDES TO ALTER NAZI "SS" TATTOO
AFTER MRFF'S PROTEST & PUBLICITY

Excerpt from MRFF's Lead Walla Walla Client's Statement:

"Many of us in Walla Walla are grateful to have the support and dedication of the MRFF to bring our voices to light in our community."

Excerpt from MRFF Supporter Email:

"Many of us feel powerless and afraid in the face of this revelation about WWPD and their response. Having you on our side has given us a sense of hope in this situation."

Statement From MRFF's Mikey Weinstein
Regarding Walla Walla Police Officer's
Recent Decision to Alter His "SS" Tattoo

"The Military Religious Freedom Foundation (MRFF) guardedly commends Walla Walla police officer Nat Small for his just-announced decision to remove the hideous Nazi "SS" symbol from the prominent tattoo on his left forearm. MRFF has been deeply into the preparation of a Federal lawsuit to be swiftly filed against the Walla Walla police department and others responsible for allowing this repulsive travesty to occur in the first place. MRFF is being asked now what our decision will be regarding this planned aggressive Federal litigation. The answer is simple; we must see what the new tattoo is going to look like and know when Officer Small is going to take this action.

Lastly, MRFF wants to express on behalf of its numerous Walla Walla clients who are representatives of the Jewish, LGBTQ, people of color and related communities there how terribly disappointed everyone is that the city allowed this to go on so long and especially the role of the police department headed by the blatantly incompetent police chief, Scott Bieber. MRFF and our Walla Walla clients were horrified by the police chief's blatant Christian proselytizing from the back of that vehicle during the recent public protest and where he (Police Chief Bieber) made it clear that only one person in human history was ever "perfect" who walked the face of the earth; obviously a direct reference to Jesus Christ. MRFF and our numerous Walla Walla, Washington clients demand that the clueless police chief, Scott Bieber, be immediately fired for both misfeasance and malfeasance. So, while MRFF is pleased that this decision has finally been reached, our Foundation will carefully review this matter as described above before we decide to pull the plug on our planed Federal lawsuit."

MRFF's Lead Client Statement on Walla Walla Officer's Decision

Many of us in Walla Walla are grateful to have the support and dedication of the MRFF to bring our voices to light in our community. We appreciate this organization for demanding that the WWPD and City of Walla Walla Government take the time to listen to our concerns - rather than hiding behind deleted social media accounts and abruptly ended phone calls. As a citizen of Walla Walla, I am encouraged to see that Officer Nat Small has issued a statement in response to public concerns and division of his tattoo and that he has made the decision to alter the offensive portion of the design.

I do hope that this will start a discussion into the policies in place concerning the WWPD hiring process. The hiring of an Officer with a recognizable hate-symbol (and known gang-tattoo) brings into question the abilities of the WWPD leadership to serve the many diverse members of the community we live in. Along with this, I hope that the changes to the design come quickly. Again, I appreciate Nat Small's recent statement but cannot help but question how it was allowed to get this far?

Email from a Grateful MRFF Supporter Who Attended
"Stop The Hate" Walla Walla Protest

Hey Mikey,

My name is (name withheld), I was at the protest last Wednesday at the Walla Walla Police Department to stand against having a police officer with an SS tattoo in a visible place on his body. I've written a letter to the city council and I've connected with other who feel the same. My friends and I would like to help in any way we can.

A group of us have reached out to Small through common connections to see if he would meet with us and allow us to give him some perspective on why we are protesting. Honestly doubt he will bite.

I'm also thinking about gathering signatures from my friends who were afraid to show at the rally due to the color of their skin and their professional status in the community.

Is there anything else we should do?

Thanks again for intervening in this issue. Many of us feel powerless and afraid in the face of this revelation about WWPD and their response. Having you on our side has given us a sense of hope in this situation.

Statement From Walla Walla Police Officer Nat Small
Regarding His Tattoo

By: Officer Nat Small

(Excerpts from the Officer Nat Small's statement)

My name is Nat Small, and I have been a police officer for the City of Walla Walla since November of 2017. Prior to my employment as a peace officer, I served as a Scout Sniper in the United States Marine Corps. On June 4, 2020, a picture of me in a short sleeve shirt began circulating on social media referencing a tattoo that, I admit without context could be construed in ways never intended. If you are reading this, you have likely already seen a picture of the tattoo, or read the article in Stars and Stripes Newspaper, where I spoke freely about the topic in 2012. I explained the tattoo's significance, and provided photos of the tattoo. The article was distributed nationally without criticism. I have never tried to hide the tattoo, but I have always kept it covered while on duty as a police officer out of respect to the public, given the possibility of its misinterpretation.

At one point, the tattoo on my arm was so important to me, that in my young mind, I would have done anything to keep it. I would have let pride interfere with my success, and I would have let it inhibit my ability to help others. I have seen my community divided, with good people on both sides of the aisle. Neighbors have turned against each other and people are refusing to do business with those whose opinions differ. I regret that I have been an unwitting cause of division in the community that I seek to serve. For those reasons, I have decided to alter my tattoo to eliminate the "Double S" portion.

My actions are my actions alone, and not out of fear of repercussions, but rather in an honest effort to bring healing and unity to the community that I serve, in a time of great division.
